A one-page guide from Sanctuary Mix

For your church office

What your sound team would like to buy, who sells it, and how to pay

Someone on your church's sound team would like to buy Sanctuary Mix, a practical guide to church sound by Rikus Jonck. This page has what your office needs to know. It isn't a quote or an invoice.

What it is

The rand price is the full price: Fonck (Pty) Ltd is not registered for VAT, so no VAT is added. Everything is digital, so nothing is posted.

How to pay

1. Go to sanctuarymix.com and choose the copy.
2. Type the name the copy is licensed to (printed small at the foot of every page) and one email address, where the download link goes. For a team licence, also type the church's name and town, and use the email address of whoever leads your sound team, not the office's: a second email, which sets up your church's training, goes there too, and its link works once and makes whoever uses it the leader.
3. Pay by card on Yoco's secure payment page, in South African rand: Visa, Mastercard or American Express, or Apple Pay or Google Pay on supported devices.
4. The download link arrives by email a minute or two later. It works for 7 days, and a fresh link is free at any time at sanctuarymix.com/thank-you.

For your records, the email with the download link says what was bought, the licence and who sold it.

The licence in one line

A personal copy and Essentials are for one person. A team licence covers one local church's sound, worship and ministry team. Any licence lets your church print the printables for its own services.
